

Numerology Report

Sunder

September 6, 1968

INTRODUCTION

This report is designed to give you new insights into your character and personality from a perspective considerably different from that which most people use. The descriptions in this report are based on the ancient science of numerology.

The report discusses:

The lessons you are learning in this life, your deep inner desires and how to fulfill them, your talents and personality traits and how to make the best use of them, the environment in which you work best, your attitude toward work, and your ways of relating to other people.

The report can also guide you in identifying existing opportunities and opening the way to new and even more favorable possibilities. It's up to you, though, to use the information here, along with your free will, to determine the road on which you want to journey and the distance you wish to travel. No matter your age, the roads are open when you are ready to explore.

Some talents and characteristics surface at different times in your life. Occasionally, a characteristic described in this report has been present in an earlier part of your life and is not of current importance. Sometimes, a talent mentioned here is present although you may not be fully aware of it. If this is the case, check with a friend who knows you well and you may be pleasantly surprised. A few characteristics may not have appeared in your life as yet although they're described in this report. The description of these undeveloped potentials may serve to open your consciousness to new and exciting possibilities.

OVERVIEW

There are several different sides to your character but your energy is primarily pointed in two contrary directions. A good part of you is probably devoted to people—loving, giving and responsible—but another strong side of you is free-spirited and adventurous—at least in spirit but often in fact—and doesn't want to feel restrained in any way. During your youth and young adulthood, you'll struggle to balance your desire to give to others in a responsible manner with your need to do your own thing with as little sense of responsibility as possible. You'll probably sometimes take care of one and sometimes the other, but rarely to your complete satisfaction. As you get older, you'll probably learn how to balance your generous, helping side with your free-spirited side so that you can feel comfortable with both.

YOUR SOCIAL AND CREATIVE ABILITIES— AND YOUR MANY INTERESTS

Your 3 Life Path

You were born with a special gift, the potential to experience great delight in the pleasures of life. You sometimes affirm this delight with exhilarating enthusiasm, sometimes savor it with intense but quiet pleasure. One of your major lessons in life is to learn to fully appreciate and express this wonderful joy in living. You probably enjoy people and spend considerable time socializing, either with many friends in varied activities or in the company of a few intimates engaged in quiet diversions. You're also apt to enjoy using your considerable creative ability.

You're probably the kind of person who often gives much to your friends. They're apt to appreciate your openness, humor, warmth and affection as well as your charm and graciousness. During your younger years, you may be relatively quiet, sharing your warmth and fun with only a few close friends or in special situations. As you get older, you'll probably choose to widen the circle of those who enjoy your special good cheer. As you develop your capabilities, you may expand the areas in which you express that wonderful joy of living to a wider and wider circle.

Some people with this kind of energy, though, often seem little interested in experiencing or sharing their delightful potential. If you're moody and inexpressive in your younger years, you may, even when older, choose to share only a small part of yourself with others. You may have to expend considerable effort to become more open and expressive.

You have a good imagination along with your creative ability and may spend time enjoying your creative pursuits. You probably express yourself well verbally, and it wouldn't be surprising if you involve yourself, at least part of the time, in activities related to your voice or to words. You may have some singing or acting talent, or you may enjoy writing or lecturing. Since you instinctively know the best way to present material and information, you could be a natural at teaching or selling. You're probably also a good conversationalist.

You can be most adaptable at times. You're probably involved in many different activities and can often move easily from one interest to another. As a matter of fact, you may have to learn to limit your interests. You may also want to learn to recognize and curtail some of your frivolous or superficial activities so as to have a better chance of completing your important projects and achieving your desired goals.

YOUR VERY LOVING AND COMPASSIONATE NATURE—AND UNACKNOWLEDGED NEEDS

Your 9 Expression And 6 Birthday

There's another side of your personality—along with the social and creative part—which is probably just as important in determining your general character.

You probably have a great love for your fellow man. You enjoy people as individuals and, at the same time, have a marked concern for humanity in general. Others will recognize your desire to give as selflessly as you can, possibly with little thought of reward or return. With your compassionate nature, you may choose a line of work involving philanthropic or humanitarian ventures. You will probably have to learn to balance your personal needs and ambitions, however large or small, against your inborn desire to contribute to those in need.

You know how to accept the responsibility of comforting, helping and serving others less able than yourself. You probably find considerable satisfaction from your efforts in this direction.

You're often a sympathetic, compassionate, tolerant and generous individual with much understanding of others and their feelings. You're probably a very feeling person yourself and a person used to expressing those feelings strongly. At times, though, you may get too emotional and find that you have difficulty saying what you want clearly enough so that others understand. At other times, you're apt to express only part of your feelings in order to avoid expected criticism. On occasion, you may become worried or anxious, and your fault-finding manner at these times is likely to upset those who prefer your gentler side. On the other hand, with your deep intuitive awareness of life and people, there are times when you can truly inspire others with your words or actions.

Much of your activity is apt to revolve around your home and family. Your spouse, children and others who are lucky enough to be in your intimate circle of relatives and friends enjoy your friendly, affectionate and loving ways. At times, your love and generosity are likely to be expressed with considerable depth and passion, and that intensity may occasionally be difficult for others to handle comfortably. You can be easily hurt by the slightest uncaring sign from anyone with whom you feel close, but you can be most charitable and forgiving when the occasion demands.

You're probably the one in the family who helps settle arguments and keeps everything running smoothly. Most people see your ability to create harmony and you're likely to be called on, both at home and at work, to help when the situation seems to be out of balance. You probably involve yourself, at least to some extent, working to achieve humanistic goals. With your flexibility, patience and feeling for others, you are apt to work well with the young, the old and the ill. In your younger years, your personal ambitions are likely to conflict with your desire to give to other people, but these ambitions may well diminish as the years pass.

During your youth and adolescence, you may find it difficult to give as much as you do and receive so little in return. As you get older, you will probably learn to accept the fact that limited rewards from others appear to be your usual lot in life. With maturity, you will probably find your altruism a source of considerable satisfaction.

Because you're often willing to give so much to others, you don't always acknowledge or respond to your own needs so that you run the risk of being a doormat. There may be times when you are so busy helping others that you repress your own needs, no matter how urgent or important. You can be as self-sacrificing as the occasion requires, but you have to be careful to limit the exacting demands to which you respond so that you don't get overwhelmed. You may have to learn not to expect anywhere near your own selfless approach from your family and close friends. You'll also have to learn to recognize and take care of your own interests so that you don't get frustrated and resentful. These are likely to be important lessons for you.

Some people with your kind of caring energy, though, don't always take care of their responsibilities when those responsibilities interfere with their other activities. If you find yourself avoiding your obligations, you may have much to learn about the satisfaction of giving to others. Even if you're concerned about other people, you may have to learn to distinguish between helping and interfering.

There's an artistic side to you. You may enjoy expressing yourself in music, painting, sculpture or other artistic endeavors. The beauty of your home and surroundings are likely to be of particular concern.

Your 9 Intensity Point

You probably find yourself, at times, in heavy emotional situations which may well tax your sensitive and giving nature to its maximum. There are likely to be upsets and disappointments involved in each of these situations, and considerable effort has to be invested in order to bring the experience to anything approaching a comfortable conclusion. Although you are considerably responsive to others, you may have to learn to express even more than you do in the way of sympathy, compassion and tolerance. No matter how much you give, you may have to learn to give even more of yourself. The more clearly you understand your feelings and can express your emotions, the better you will probably be able to handle these encounters.

Your 2 Karmic Lesson

You often find yourself in situations where a sensitive nature, a diplomatic manner and a considerate outlook are important. Since you have a strong sensitive side, you can often help others resolve difficult matters with relative ease so that all the participants in a discussion or dispute feel comfortable and satisfied. You'll probably learn a great deal as you work with people in your perceptive way. If and when your own needs feel more important, you may overlook your understanding of others.

YOUR DEPENDABLE BUSINESSLIKE SIDE

Your 8 Soul Urge

Your considerate and emotional side is an important part of your character. There's another side, too, but it appears to be of much lesser influence.

You probably have strong material needs along with your executive and administrative abilities. You are likely to want a life of wealth, success and power. You would prefer running your own business or, at the least, playing a significant role in some commercial venture. Your desire for money and possessions is probably seen in your personal life as well as in your career.

You're probably a good judge of character and also exhibit good judgment and understanding with money. When it suits you, you can approach your work in a practical, logical, down-to-earth way and, when necessary, can demonstrate the imagination necessary for commercial success.

At times, you have strong and ambitious needs—for money, material comfort, status or power—but, by and large, you keep your ambitions within reasonable limits. On occasion, you may strain after possessions with little thought of other considerations, but this isn't likely to be a frequent occurrence. You're capable of exerting a good deal of power, even dominating people or situations, but it's unlikely that you'll do this very often.

You may, at times, be very demanding of yourself and expect the same high standards from your associates. You have a stubborn streak which shows itself on occasion, and your rigidity and one-track view can also cause difficulties. You are able to stand firm with the courage of your convictions when you want to, but there are also times when you hurt your own interests because of the fixity of your approach.

Your 8 Modified Karmic Lesson

Despite your good business potential, you probably have to learn how to deal with money comfortably in your personal life. You may worry that you never have enough money, or you may have an unrealistic view of how far your earnings will go. You may buy things you really can't afford, or you may be afraid to buy things although the cost is well within your income. Until you can deal with your personal finances with ease, you may be subject to uncomfortable pressures related to financial dependence or excessive striving for attainment.

Your 1 Intensity Point

Although you're gifted with considerable ability, you probably have a good deal of work to do to learn to believe in yourself and your personal power. Some people manage to hide their insecurity with a show of bravado, but most aren't very good at masking their vulnerability. In your early years, you probably feel little in the way of self-confidence. Despite your capabilities, you probably have difficulty promoting yourself. You're likely to look to others for direction and are often pressured by other people's decisions because you're afraid to chart your own course. You'll have to accept the necessity of determining your own direction so that you can move forward without depending on others.

SUMMARY

You may start out in life feeling weak and relatively dependent—or you may start out in life feeling free-spirited but limited in expression. When you mature, though, you are likely to be neither dependent nor restricted. When you learn to combine the beauty of the loving, giving, responsible side of your personality with the delight of the enthusiastic, creative and versatile side of your character, you are likely to find a great deal of satisfaction in your life. As you mature, you'll probably learn to give a great deal to other people while taking care of your own need for variety and excitement.